

Silver & Shungite Pendant

A gorgeous pendant made with Silver and Shungite to promote clarity and letting go, as well as giving protection from harmful EMF frequencies

All of our Orgonite Pendants strengthen bioenergetic field (Aura), revitalise body and protect from harmful influences such as electromagnetic radiation (EMR) or negative energies.

Benefits of Silver:

The medicinal use of silver is traceable back to Ancient Greece and Egypt. Even then, small amounts of silver (today we use colloidal silver) were used for their antibacterial, antifungal and antiviral properties. It was known that storing perishable goods or water in silver containers kept these goods fresher for longer.

Silver was often used as a part of purification rituals and was a symbol of wealth and advantage, much like gold, but with a much calmer and more healing-oriented energy. Silver is connected to the moon, and as such to the feminine aspect of energy. Much like the moon, it has a reflective property, and so reflects negativity from the wearer.

Many psychics and gemstone users use silver to amplify and channel the qualities of other gemstones, for example turquoise or amethyst. This ameliorating quality is particularly useful in Orgonite, as we combine it with several other gemstones in our products.

Benefits of Shungite:

Shungite has electric conductivity properties. This is said to be the reason for one of shungite most notable uses: shielding and protection from EMF electromagnetic radiation from things like TVs, computers, microwaves, cell phones, and other items. This shielding brings with it many healing energies.

Shungite is used by many for purification. This often takes the form of creating an elixir or purifying water for drinking or bathing the skin to bring about healing and energy. Springs near the source of Shungite have been used at least as far back as Czar Peter the Great for its healing properties.

Shungite is an excellent stone for magical and mystical work. It grounds spiritual energy to bring it into the Earth plane existence. Shungite is also used to bring Light into the auric energy field, allowing positive energy only to reach within that field. This brings not only physical protection, but also psychic protection. It is said to be protection against the evil eye and negative energies. Shungite is said to calm and relax anyone using or near it. This may be due to its protective energies and rejection of negative energy. Shungite is related to the root or base chakra.
